The joys and pains of the recruiting process....having a highlight video is fundamentally the first and most important factor when trying to get in the door as a recruit to the colleges you are interested in playing for. The earlier the better; if your son is playing as a sophomore and has some decent clips make a short one. Going to a camp, bring videos (more than one recruiter will be there, bring multiples) people will want them.

Very few student athletes get recruited without hard work on the student's part both on and off the field. Having these videos is an important tool you can use to promote your athlete.

Steve and I couldn't even begin to tell you how many videos we sent and passed out when asked at various camps for Cody's video. Tom is AMAZING at getting videos to you last minute.

There were times a recruiter was going to be at school the next morning and we needed more. Tom dropped them off to us or brought them into school. Tom is always willing to help your athlete anyway he can to promote your son's dream of being a college football player. With Tom the process is quick and inexpensive compared to how much others are paying for this service.

We would 100% recommend Tom for your child's recruiting video.

We hope your journey brings you to a satisfying end and your son's dream of playing on Saturday afternoons is fulfilled like ours was. To a smaller D3 college such as Wittenburg, huge D1 colleges such as Wisconsin, Miami and Toledo, or our own University of Dayton, as well as an Ancient 8 D1AA Ivy League school, we have kids from Alter playing at all levels and each got there with a lot of hard work, luck and a video, made by Tom.

Good luck!....Steve and Kristin Taulbee
